In the 25th century, advances in technology have redefined life itself. A person's consciousness can now be stored in a cortical stack and downloaded into a new body (or "sleeve"), making death obsolete. Takeshi Kovacs, former revolutionary, criminal, mercenary and the last of the legendary interstellar warriors known as the Envoys, has been killed before, but this last death was particularly painful. Now, 500 years later, he has been resleeved into a body in San Francisco and thrown into a deadly, far-reaching noir conspiracy. A fish out of water in a place and time he doesn't know, Kovacs needs to solve a murder and reclaim his life, or go back into the eternal darkness of storage. (November 1 - June 20)

The Second Fattest Housewife In Westport is narrated by Katie, a (slightly) larger, strong-willed mother raising her flawed family of three in a wealthy town filled with "perfect" wives and their "perfect" offspring. Bader will play Jeff Otto, Katie's husband, and father of teenagers Taylor and Harrison and 5-year-old Anna-Kat. Jeff adores Katie and has absolutely no problem with the fact that she's a larger sized woman. He is always reasonable, the voice of logic, and often the only barrier between the rest of the world and Katie's somewhat ill conceived plans.

In the wilderness of junior high, Edwin Hanratty is at the bottom of the food chain. His teachers find him a nuisance. His fellow students consider him prey. And although his parents are not oblivious to his troubles, they can't quite bring themselves to fathom the ruthless forces that demoralize him daily. Sharing in these schoolyard indignities is his only friend, Flake. Branded together as misfits, their fury simmers quietly in the hallways, classrooms, and at home, until an unthinkable idea offers them a spectacular and terrifying release.

The story introduces Andi Marcus (Lee) as she's about to celebrate her 13th birthday. She's eager to have a little teenage fun and adventure — just a little — but that may never happen because her strict mother is doing everything in her power to keep Andi from turning out like her older sister, Bex. As a teenager, Bex dropped out of school, left home and now, in her late 20s, still doesn't know what she wants out of life. But when Bex returns home and swears she is ready to get her life together, Andi's life is turned upside down and leaves her questioning everything she's ever known.

Anne is described as a coming-of-age story about an outsider who fights for acceptance, for her place in the world and for love. The drama revolves around a young orphaned girl who, after an abusive childhood spent in orphanages and the homes of strangers, is mistakenly sent to live with an elderly spinster and her aging brother. Over time, 13-year-old Anne will transform their lives and eventually the small town in which they live, with her unique spirit, fierce intellect and brilliant imagination. While the new series will follow a similar storyline to the book that millions of readers around the world know and love, it will also chart new territory. Anne and the rest of the characters in and around Green Gables will experience new adventures reflecting timeless issues, including themes of identity, sexism, bullying, prejudice and trusting one's.

Shallow, womanizing attorney Tommy O'Reilly has a reputation for being able to settle any lawsuit - a trait that has put him on the fast track to a partnership at his law firm. When Tommy is assigned to represent Allie Batista, a religiously devout young woman who feels that she has a calling from God to become a priest, he is initially irked by her refusal to settle for a hefty payday. But ultimately, deeply moved by Allie's tenacity and devotion, Tommy takes head on all the wealth and power of the Catholic Church in a David-and-Goliath lawsuit that alleges Allie has been the victim of the same systematic discrimination that has been endemic in the Church for centuries. Rob Carrey (Courtney) is a successful documentary filmmaker who has returned from a shoot to New York City, where he's prepared to separate from Carolyn, his long-time love. But when he finds an invitation to his boarding school reunion in his pile of mail, Rob begins a painful journey into his past--one that will alter the course of his life forever. Years ago, Rob was a scholarship student at the elite Fenton School, where he became a star member of the rowing team. Generations of Fenton men had led the rowing team, known as the God Four, to victory--and Rob would be no exception. But as the team's most important race drew near, and tempers and lusts reached the boiling point, Rob found himself in a dilemma: If he sacrifices everything to win he stands to lose everything that matters. Which is the right path--and where will it lead him and the ones he loves?

An irreverent, sexual farce that evolves, against all odds, into a surprising love story. An edgy, tender romp about a trio of misfits that never grew up, living in the moment with no thought of the future or the past, bouncing from trouble to trouble and almost everything they do backfires. Yet despite that, they haphazardly, unwittingly do good things. They are perpetual outsiders, their faces pressed against the glass of a society that they will never really be a part of. When they make enemies with a gun-toting hairdresser it knocks the wind out of their joyride, and the journey becomes one of constant escape from the law, from society and from a hairdresser's revenge. Through their journey together, they manage to create, despite the odds stacked against them, a little family of their own. The action may be crude and robust, the language the stuff of pulp, but there is a tenderness underneath, a hopefulness, a yearning to have a life that is better than the one they were born into, yet still be able to hang loose and free. Successful marriage therapist Jillian seems to have it all. A thriving practice, best-selling self-help books and a career on the rise. But the one thing that isn't going so well is her marriage. She may be fine at giving advice to others, but she is ignoring the problems in her own relationship. Drastic measures are required and when her unhappy husband leaves for a long trip. Jillian's best friend takes matters into her own hands to help her friend break out of her comfort zone and uses a four-legged friend to make her realize that sometimes not being in control can be the best thing ever.

Set in the privileged and luxuriant world of the Hamptons, intense young Abby and curious surfer Matt have a summer encounter that seems magical. She's kept under close watch by Michael, a protective father who lets down his guard when he meets Leah, Matt's strong and determined mother who feels open to taking a risk. But underneath the romantic surface of these four characters yearning for more is a sense of desperate unease, which turns brutal and frightening when a party leads to an act of unforgivable violence. With family and community coming to terms with and striving for justice with a sexual assault, Matt and Abby have to face a coming-of-age neither of them had imagined.

The story delves into how, with the rise of globalization, the corporate has become criminal and the criminal corporate and how, driven by the global demand for cheap products, everyone is complicit in some way. Norton will play Alex Godman, the English-raised son of Russian exiles with a mafia past. Godman has spent his life trying to escape that shadow, building his own legitimate business and forging a life with his girlfriend. But when his family's past murderously returns to threaten them, Alex is drawn into the criminal world and forced to confront his values to protect those he loves. McMafia charts Godman's journey through a terrifying labyrinth of international criminals, money launderers, corrupt politicians and ruthless intelligence agencies. He soon finds himself embroiled in an underworld that stretches from London to Moscow, Dubai to Mumbai and Africa to the Americas; where Mexican cocaine cartels compete with Pakistani drug lords, Balkan smugglers and the Russian Mafia itself.

An international underwater observation program, led by Chinese scientists, is under attack by an unknown danger, and its deep-sea submersible lies disabled and trapped at the bottom of the Mariana Trench. With time running out, former Naval Captain and expert deep sea diver Jonas Taylor (Statham) is recruited by Dr. Zhang Suyin, lead oceanographer of the program, for what is likely a suicide mission. Years before, Taylor had encountered this same terrifying threat, which forced him to abort his mission and abandon half his crew, resulting in disgrace and a dishonorable discharge. Now, Taylor must confront his fears and risk his own life to save everyone trapped below...bringing him face to face once more with the apex predator of all time. Upon arriving at the Tokatlian Hotel in Istanbul, private detective Hercule Poirot (Branagh) receives a telegram prompting him to cancel his arrangements and return to London. He instructs the concierge to book a first-class compartment on the Orient Express leaving that night. After boarding, Poirot is approached by Mr. Ratchett, a malevolent American he initially saw at the Tokatlian. Ratchett believes his life is being threatened and attempts to hire Poirot but, due to his distaste, Poirot refuses. "I do not like your face, Mr. Ratchett," he says. On the second night of the journey, the train is stopped by a snowdrift near Vinkovci. Several events disturb Poirot's sleep, including a cry emanating from Ratchett's compartment. The next morning, Mr. Bouc, an acquaintance of Poirot and director of the company operating the Orient Express, informs him that Ratchett has been murdered and asks Poirot to investigate, in order to avoid complications and bureaucracy when the Yugoslav police arrive. Poirot accepts. (Offer out to Charlize Theron to join the cast. / Release Date: November 22, 2017)

The story is set in contemporary Russia, and state intelligence officer Dominika Egorova (Lawrence) struggles to survive in the cast-iron bureaucracy of post-Soviet intelligence. Drafted against her will to become a "Sparrow," a trained seductress in the service, Dominika is assigned to operate against Nathaniel Nash, a first-tour CIA officer who handles the agency's most sensitive penetration of Russian intelligence. The two young intelligence officers collide in a charged atmosphere of trade craft, deception, and inevitably, a sexual attraction that threatens their careers and the security of America's valuable mole in Moscow. Dominika winds up seeking revenge against her soulless masters, and living a fatal double life after she is recruited by the CIA to ferret out a high-level traitor in Washington. She also hunts down a Russian illegal buried deep in the U.S. military and, against all odds, to return to Moscow as the new-generation penetration of Vladimir Putin's intelligence service. A drama based on the characters from the Archie comics. Riverdale is named after the fictional town where most Archie Comics characters reside and which will serve as the setting for the show. Set in the present, the series offers a bold, subversive take on Archie, Betty, Veronica and their friends, exploring the surreality of small-town life — the darkness and weirdness bubbling beneath Riverdale's wholesome façade. The series will showcase the eternal love triangle of Archie Andrews, girl-next-door Betty Cooper and rich socialite Veronica Lodge and will include the entire cast of characters from the comic books — including Archie's rival Reggie Mantle and slacker best friend Jughead Jones. They have always scared him in the past—the Rangers, with their dark cloaks and shadowy ways. The villagers believe the Rangers practice magic that makes them invisible to ordinary people. And now 15-year-old Will, always small for his age, has been chosen as a Ranger's apprentice. What he doesn't yet realize is that the Rangers are the protectors of the kingdom. Highly trained in the skills of battle and surveillance, they fight the battles before the battles reach the people. And as Will is about to learn, there is a large battle brewing. The exiled Morgarath, Lord of the Mountains of Rain and Night, is gathering his forces for an attack on the kingdom. This time, he will not be denied.

Follows three young women, who form a girl group with hopes of making it big in the music industry, and the choices with which they're faced along the way. Latifah anchors the cast as Carlotta, the owner of an Atlanta beauty salon, with an amazing voice, who will become a surrogate mother to the three girls – even though she doesn't approve of their musical dreams. Demorest, has landed the role of Star, the tough 18-year-old who spent her childhood in and out of foster homes after the death of her mother, and who will do anything to become the star she was named to be. Destiny, has been cast as Alexandra, the wealthy 20-year-old who grew up on New York's Upper East Side, but who, for years, has tried to put her privileged world behind her, so she can make real, authentic music. O'Grady, will play Simone, Star's younger sister who dreams of the day Star will return to rescue her from the abusive foster home in which she was placed five years before. Together, the three will chase their dreams of making it big in the glamorous but cut-throat Atlanta music scene.

The film tells the true story of an unexpected friendship in the later years of Queen Victoria's remarkable rule. When Abdul Karim, a young clerk, travels from India to participate in the Queen's Golden Jubilee, he is surprised to find favor with the Queen herself. As the Queen questions the constrictions of her long-held position, the two forge an unlikely and devoted alliance with a loyalty to one another that her household and inner circle all attempt to destroy. As the friendship deepens, the Queen begins to see a changing world through new eyes and joyfully reclaims her humanity.

Leonard Vole is arrested for the murder of Emily French, a wealthy older woman. Unaware that he was a married man, Miss French made him her principal heir, casting suspicion on Leonard. When his wife, Romaine, agrees to testify, she does so not in Leonard's defense but as a witness for the prosecution. Romaine's decision is part of a complicated plan to free her husband. She first gives the prosecution its strongest evidence, then fabricates new evidence that discredits her testimony, believing that this improves Leonard's chances of acquittal far more than her testimony for the defense. It is then revealed that Leonard Vole actually did kill Emily French.

It follows Henry Mueller (Linklater), a charismatic high school English teacher who has a breakdown and is committed to a mental institution. There, under the watchful eye of Louise Baldwin (Sykes), he begins to feel "sane." Henry starts to question the system and the methods used to contain the inmates, ultimately becoming the leader of an inmate revolt. It's a dark comedy about an asylum that operates like a family, and as in all families, the question of who is sane and who is not is open for discussion.
