Set in the 26th century, the story takes place 300 years after a societal collapse caused by a major war. But in that society, it's a technological dark age following a pinnacle of achievement far, far beyond where we are right now. It's a post-apocalyptic world from a very high level with cyborg technology as just a way of life. People are augmented a lot as workers and so on, so being a cyborg is not unusual. The main character is a cyborg. She has an organic human brain, and she looks like she's about fourteen years old. She has a completely artificial body and she's lost her memory - she's found in a wreckage and she's reconstituted by a cyber-surgeon who becomes her surrogate father. (Release Date: July 20, 2018.)

In the 25th century, advances in technology have redefined life itself. A person's consciousness can now be stored in a cortical stack and downloaded into a new body (or "sleeve"), making death obsolete. Takeshi Kovacs, former revolutionary, criminal, mercenary and the last of the legendary interstellar warriors known as the Envoys, has been killed before, but this last death was particularly painful. Now, 500 years later, he has been resleeved into a body in San Francisco and thrown into a deadly, far-reaching noir conspiracy. A fish out of water in a place and time he doesn't know, Kovacs needs to solve a murder and reclaim his life, or go back into the eternal darkness of storage. (November 14 - June 16)

It's 1975, when the women's rights movement is still in its infancy. Gorgeous Bonnie Nolan (Silverstone) gave up her career as an actress in New York when she got pregnant and married Steve Nolan, now a wealthy real estate maven. The perfect Beverly Hills hostess, but also a strong role model for her two young daughters, Bonnie finds her life unraveling when she discovers that Steve is having an affair -- a deal breaker for their marriage, as far as she is concerned. But as she tries to establish an independent life in this man's world, Bonnie has even more unpleasant revelations in store.

Sky-high crime, officer-involved shootings, cover-ups and corruption: the over-extended and under-funded Chicago Police Department is spiraling out of control. Enter billionaire engineer Gideon Reeves (Kirk). After his best friend is murdered in a botched attempted robbery, and the killer remains at large, Gideon demands justice. Putting up millions of dollars of his own money, he makes an unprecedented deal to take over the troubled 13th District -- and reboot it as a private police force: better, faster and smarter than anything seen before. With cutting-edge technology created by Gideon himself, this eccentric yet brilliant outsider challenges the city's police force to rethink everything about the way they fight crime. But the near-overnight transition to the city's most advanced police district doesn't sit well with all of its members. Gideon knows if he's going to change anything, he needs an ally, whom he finds in Officer Theresa Murphy (Martinez), an ambitious, street-smart cop who is ready to embrace Gideon's technological changes. With the help of Gideon's gifted tech officer, Ada Hamilton (Stasey), he and Murphy embark on a mission to turn the 13th District -- including a skeptical Sgt. Ned Conrad (Hudson), and determined Officers Nicholas Brandt (Handley) and Tasha Goss (Boss) -- into a dedicated crime-fighting force of the 21st century.

Put in prison for seven years, Bradley learns that his wife has been taken hostage by the vicious drug lord who blames him for his own incarceration. If he wants his wife and baby to stay alive, Bradley must get himself transferred to maximum security and "hit" an inmate who is being held in the lowest rung of the prison -- Cell Block 99, reserved for psychos and the worst of the worst. Bradley must act like a psycho himself in order to effect the transfer to the maximum security prison, where he is ultimately confined to the infamous Cell Block 99. But Bradley's adversaries are also in that block, and when he gets the drop on a sadistic prison guard, he is free to exact a terrible vengeance -- and save the woman he loves, at the cost of his own life.

Chronicles the journey of Nikki, David and DeeVee, three friends united by their love of hip-hop, as they work to make their big mark in the music industry. The film will be set in the '90s in New York, where the music industry's artists and hustlers intersect in the dance clubs and the street corners of the still crime-ridden city. The story centers around Nikki Jones, a brilliant recent grad who abandoned a scholarship to law school to pursue her dream of becoming a record exec. Her boyfriend, David Aaron, is the scrappy son of a legendary music producer who is unwilling to rest on his father's laurels and notorious reputation. DeeVee is an aspiring producer on the hunt to find the next big rapper on the come-up. Nikki fast talks her way into an internship at the premier hip-hop company, Fouray Entertainment, and catches the eye of the label's infamous founder, while David struggles at the city's top R&B radio station whose celebrity DJ refuses to program real hip-hop. Meanwhile, DeeVee returns to his roots in the Fort Greene projects to scout for talent and runs into Ahm, a drug dealer with a lyrical gift whose talent could bring them all to the next level. But they will soon discover lives can be broken as fast as legends can be born. (August 15 – November 3)

The ripped-from-the-headlines project is about the tragic car accident that took the life of Mary Jo Kopechne (Mara) when Senator Ted Kennedy (Clarke) was at the wheel in the summer of 1969. After driving off a bridge, the young Kennedy panicked and left the scene of the accident, leaving the 28 year-old Kopechne to drown. Kennedy went home but didn't report the accident for 9 hours. The car accident took place on the eve of the Apollo 11 moon landing. After the accident and over the course of the next week, the U.S. Senator struggled between following his own moral compass or using his power and influence to save his Presidential aspirations and protect the Kennedy family legacy and name.

The series will follow the State's Attorney's dedicated team of prosecutors and investigators who navigate heated city politics and controversy head-on while fearlessly pursuing justice. As they take on the city's high stakes and often media-frenzied cases, they must balance public opinion, power struggles within the system and their unwavering passion for the law. It all starts with a gut-wrenching case when one of Chicago's finest is shot in the line of duty.

About what really happens behind the scenes of a massive stand-up comedy tour featuring five legendary comics – George Lopez, DL Hughley, Cedric the Entertainer, Eddie Griffin and Charlie Murphy. They're hilarious, insane and unapologetic on stage, but the second they step off is when the real show begins. The storylines are based on actual events that have taken place not only on their wildly successful Comedy Get Down arena tour, but throughout the 25 plus years each has been a nationally headlining comedian. A workplace comedy at its core, the 30 minute, single-camera series explores the personal and professional relationships of these five comic titans as they navigate the challenges of life on the road: seedy venues, racist road managers, pushy wives, angry baby mamas, obsessive fans, demanding celebrities, shady politicians and more. A one-hour international thriller woven around a murder in a remote Canadian Arctic town. The series follows an investigation that begins with a ritualistic killing in an isolated Arctic outpost but grows to expose an international conspiracy to control the vast natural resources of the Arctic. It's a thrilling and realistic look at the effects of globalization set against the last frontier on Earth, where countries and corporations are waging war for sovereignty over an ungoverned territory.

Based on the true story of the race between Thomas Edison (Cumberbatch) and George Westinghouse (Gyllenhaal) to develop a practical system of electricity and sell their respective inventions to the country and the world. The film will follow the events known as the "War of Currents," which took place in the late 1880's between Edison, who backed his direct current for electrical distribution, and Westinghouse who promoted alternating current. The rivalry got so intense that Edison launched a smear campaign against Westinghouse in an attempt to highlight the safety issues with alternating current. Edison lobbied against AC in state legislatures, spread disinformation on "fatal AC accidents," and even went so far as to publicly execute animals through electrocution. Edison's efforts were naught however, as alternating current prevailed as the superior and cost-effective system, yet his demonstrations led to the invention of the electric chair and his direct current is still used in nearly all modern electronic devices today.

Set among a diverse group of students of color as they navigate a predominantly white Ivy League college where racial tensions are often swept under the rug, Dear White People is a send up of "post-racial" America that also weaves a universal story about forging one's own unique path. Bell's Troy Fairbanks is the charming son of the dean of students, a political science major campaigning to become Winchester University's first black student president. Troy strives for ideals rather than his own dreams, even as it becomes harder to keep his personal and private lives separate. Browning will play Samantha White, a biracial film major at an Ivy League school whose radio show 'Dear White People' lands her a spot in a campus political movement. Several black student groups want her as their spokesperson, but Sam is still learning to speak for herself.

Abby Hockstatter has been trying to help her Dad, Bob, hold the family together after her Mother's death a few years earlier. Although only 16, she has tried to become a kind of surrogate Mom to her one older and one younger brother. It is a lot of work for a teenager who is really not equipped for it. Every day as she gets into Bob's beat up Volvo station wagon to be driven to school she looks across the street to the perfect house and family of the Wellmans. After a freak accident which involves some suspicious tarot cards Abby wakes up as one of the Wellmans with a new Mother, Father and sister. Her life initially seems to have changed for the better, with her having a new athletic body and boyfriend, and now she is one of the popular girls at high school. The only problem is that when she comes home she still knows where she came from...across the street at the Hockstatters. Only now Bob and her brothers have taken a huge turn for the worse and the only one who recognizes Abby from her previous life is the Hockstatter dog, Dill.

Their plan is to take advantage of the lack of neighbors and authorities to party as hard as they did in school... one last time. Once reunited, old secrets, old relationships and old rivalries fall to the wayside during one of the most spirited parties of all time. During this moment of inhibition a mysterious drug is introduced into the mix and ingested by all. What they don't know is that the homeowner was as a scientist for the CIA's controversial mind control division and that they have ingested his "baby" - a form of LSD designed to turn average soldiers into relentless killing machines. The violent "trips" come without warning. Everyone IS the killer. Everyone is the victim. And the only way out is over your friend's dead bodies. (August 16 - September 8)

It tells the story of the legendary rivalry between two of the greatest movie stars of all time—Joan Crawford (Lange) and Bette Davis (Sarandon), and how they came together in 1962 to collaborate on a picture each hoped would revive their careers. The result, the critically acclaimed and box office smash What Ever Happened to Baby Jane? ultimately received five Academy Awards nominations and became a cult classic. But for its leads, Joan Crawford and Bette Davis, the real horror was working together. Molina will play the film's director Robert Aldrich, Tucci will portray studio titan Jack Warner, Davis will play gossip columnist Hedda Hopper and Burgess will be Crawford and Davis' co-star Victor Buono. An irreverent, sexual farce that evolves, against all odds, into a surprising love story. An edgy, tender romp about a trio of misfits that never grew up, living in the moment with no thought of the future or the past, bouncing from trouble to trouble and almost everything they do backfires. Yet despite that, they haphazardly, unwittingly do good things. They are perpetual outsiders, their faces pressed against the glass of a society that they will never really be a part of. When they make enemies with a gun-toting hairdresser it knocks the wind out of their joyride, and the journey becomes one of constant escape from the law, from society and from a hairdresser's revenge. Through their journey together, they manage to create, despite the odds stacked against them, a little family of their own. The action may be crude and robust, the language the stuff of pulp, but there is a tenderness underneath, a hopefulness, a yearning to have a life that is better than the one they were born into, yet still be able to hang loose and free.

A bittersweet story of the little boy who inspired the Winnie-the-Pooh stories. A story based on writer A.A. Milne escaping to the countryside with his family to avoid the pressures of London. His relationship with his young son, Christopher Robin, inspired him to begin his classic stories. Milne named the character Winnie-the-Pooh after his son's teddy bear, which Christopher Milne had named after an American black bear named Winnie at the London Zoo.

Relegated to the digital and social media department with a bunch of millennials, Joel finds that he's way out of touch with his entitled, super-sensitive, and painfully politically correct new colleagues, 20-somethings who know everything about social media -- but nothing about the actual outdoors. Worse, he'll be working with none other than Brooke, the love of his life, with whom things ended rockily some time back, and who is now clearly not happy to have him onboard... If Joel is to survive here and prove he's not already a relic, he'll have to find a way to adapt to this strange new digital world.

The drama tells the story of life in the dystopia of Gilead, a totalitarian society in what was formerly part of the U.S. Facing environmental disasters and a plunging birthrate, Gilead is ruled by a twisted religious fundamentalism that treats women as property of the state. As one of the few remaining fertile women, Offred (Moss) is a handmaid in the commander's household, one of the caste of women forced into sexual servitude as a last desperate attempt to repopulate a devastated world. She is forced to navigate between commanders, their cruel wives, domestic marthas and her fellow handmaids — where anyone could be a spy for Gilead — all with one goal: to survive and find the daughter that was taken from her. The Immortal Life of Henrietta Lacks tells the true story of Henrietta Lacks, an African-American woman whose cells were used to create the first immortal human cell line. Told through the eyes of her daughter, Deborah Lacks (Winfrey), the film chronicles her search to learn about the mother she never knew and to understand how the unauthorized harvesting of Lacks' cancerous cells in 1951 led to unprecedented medical breakthroughs, changing countless lives and the face of medicine forever. It's a story of medical arrogance and triumph, race, poverty and deep friendship between the unlikeliest of people.

The title comes from the first words Jimmy Hoffa ever spoke to Frank "the Irishman" Sheeran. To paint a house is to kill a man. The paint is the blood that splatters on the walls and floors. Frank Sheeran lived a long, violent, passionate life. As a boy he took on older kids in bar fights so his dad could win free beer. During World War II he was a highly decorated infantryman with 411 days of active combat duty and a willingness to follow orders. "When an officer would tell you to take a couple of German prisoners back behind the line and for you to 'hurry back,' you did what you had to do." He became a hustler and hit man, working for legendary crime boss Russell Bufalino and eventually becoming one of only two non-Italians on the FBI's famous La Cosa Nostra list. He was also a truck driver who was made head of the Teamsters local in Wilmington, Delaware, by his good friend Jimmy Hoffa. When Hoffa disappeared on July 30, 1975, Sheeran became a leading suspect, and every serious study of the Hoffa disappearance alleges that Sheeran was there.

About the nature of genius, the cost of ambition, and the battle to electrify America. New York, 1888. The miracle of electric light is in its infancy. Thomas Edison has won the race to the patent office and is suing his only remaining rival, George Westinghouse, for the unheard of sum of one billion dollars. To defend himself, Westinghouse makes a surprising choice in his attorney: He hires an untested twenty-six-year-old fresh out of Columbia Law School named Paul Cravath. The task facing Cravath is beyond daunting. Edison proves to be a formidable, wily, and dangerous opponent. Yet this young, unknown attorney shares with his famous opponent a compulsion to win at all costs. How will he do it? As he takes greater and greater risks, he'll find that everyone in his path is playing their own game, and no one is quite who they seem." Woven into the tale are Nikola Tesla, Alexander Graham Bell, Stanford White and other technological titans of the late 19th century.

Making History follows three friends from two different centuries as they try to balance the thrill of time travel with the mundane concerns of their present-day lives. Two shows in one, it's both a rollicking historical adventure, and a contemporary comedy about love, friendship and trying to fit in to an increasingly complex and impersonal world. Dan Chambers (Pally), a computer science professor at a small Massachusetts college, recently discovered time travel and has been transporting himself back to the 1700s to spend time with the colonial woman he's fallen for. In the present, Dan is an unpopular nerd. But by claiming song lyrics, lines from movies and stand-up bits as his own in the 18th century, he's absolutely hilarious – he gets the girl and makes friends. But Dan's actions in the past are messing up the present. That woman he's dating is not just any woman. She's Paul Revere's daughter, Deborah (Meester), and Dan's meddling in the past causes her father to delay his famous ride, which may have altered the outcome of the entire American Revolution. To set matters right, Dan enlists the help of his colleague, Chris Parish (Lester), a brilliant, polished and popular history professor, who's now given the incredible opportunity to actually live the history he teaches. Can Dan, Chris and Deborah save America as we know it? Can a woman from 1775 adapt to life in 2016? Can the three intrepid time travelers improve the past, help the helpless, fight for justice and get rich?

The Mick — is a no-holds-barred single-camera comedy that gives new meaning to the phrase "dysfunctional family." Mackenzie aka "Mickey" (Olson) is a brash, two-bit hustler from Rhode Island who has spent her entire life shirking any semblance of responsibility. Lacking any drive, but in constant search of the next easy payday, Mickey is not without her charms. She's smart, she's fun, and despite all appearances, her head's always in the game. She just needs a big win. That win kinda, sorta comes true when, looking for a handout, Mickey visits her estranged sister and billionaire brother-in-law in Greenwich, CT, but gets more than she bargained for, as this absurdly rich couple flees the country to escape federal fraud charges. In a surprising turn of events, Mickey must assume guardianship of their three high-maintenance and ill-parented children: Sabrina (D'Elia), an ambitious, 18-going-on-30-year-old who is a worthy adversary to Mickey; Chip (Barbusca), 13, an arrogant, entitled neo-con-in-the-making with an extremely punchable face; and Ben (Stanton), seven, an adorably fragile nerd. The life that Mickey has wanted for so long now is within her reach — the mansion, the convertible, the swimming pool, the walk-in closet full of designer clothes. But as Mickey is well aware, nothing in life is free. The price? Transforming these outrageously spoiled children into honest, hard-working, decent members of society — something this foul-mouthed, debaucherous and completely out-of-her-element woman knows absolutely nothing about. Being a mother was never in Mickey's game plan, but these kids desperately need a parent. And as irresponsible as Mickey has been her entire life, she may discover that responsibility and motherhood aren't the buzzkill she always thought they would be.

Traveling psychic Manfred Bernardo has grown tired of life on the road. Taking the advice of his dead grandmother - she's quite feisty, even in the afterlife - decides to settle in the small Texas town of Midnight. Perfectly content with going about his business letting others think he's a hack, Manfred soon realizes that he has much more in common with the locals than he originally thought. It would seem that he's found more evil than he left, so he'll have to bond with his supernatural neighbors to figure out what's going on.

On a stormy winter night, two strangers wait for a flight at the Salt Lake City airport. Ashley Knox is an attractive, successful writer, who is flying East for her much anticipated wedding. Dr. Ben Payne (Elba) has just wrapped up a medical conference and is also eager to get back East for a slate of surgeries he has scheduled for the following day. When the last outgoing flight is cancelled due to a broken de-icer and a forthcoming storm, Ben finds a charter plane that can take him around the storm and drop him in Denver to catch a connection. And when the pilot says the single engine prop plane can fit one more, if barely, Ben offers the seat to Ashley knowing that she needs to get back just as urgently. And then the unthinkable happens. The pilot has a heart attack mid-flight and the plane crashes into the High Uintas Wilderness-- one of the largest stretches of harsh and remote land in the United States. Ben, who has broken ribs and Ashley, who suffers a terrible leg fracture, along with the pilot's dog, are faced with an incredibly harrowing battle to survive. Fortunately, Ben is a medical professional and avid climber (and in a lucky break, has his gear from a climb earlier in the week). With little hope for rescue, he must nurse Ashley back to health and figure out how they are going to get off the mountain, where the temperature hovers in the teens. Meanwhile, Ashley soon realizes that the very private Ben has some serious emotional wounds to heal as well. He explains to Ashley that he is separated from his beloved wife, but in a long standing tradition, he faithfully records messages for her on his voice recorder reflecting on their love affair. As Ashley eavesdrops on Ben's tender words to his estranged wife she comes to fear that when it comes to her own love story, she's just settling. And what's more: she begins to realize that the man she is really attracted to, the man she may love, is Ben. (Release Date: October 20, 2017)

The single-camera workplace comedy is set at one of the worst insurance companies in America — with the twist being that it also takes place in the universe of DC Comics. The project is about the reality of working life for a normal, powerless person in a world of superheroes and villains. Hudgens stars as Emily Locke, an insurance claims adjuster who finds herself increasingly exasperated by the disruptive antics of the various superheroes that proliferate in her city. Tudyk is set to play Del, Emily's new boss in the claims department. Del has just been promoted — not through any merit of his own, but because he's the owner's son. A self-proclaimed "rich, over-educated globetrotting wastrel," Del is a power-mad disastrous dictator of a boss. Pudi, will play Teddy, Emily's best friend at work and her trusted confidante. He spends his days creating time-wasting pranks as a way to make their office, the "least super place on earth," just a little less "unsuper." Kirk, will portray Jackie. A fan of super heroes, Jackie has plastered her office cubicle with beefcake shots of super guys. New claims department boss Del makes her his personal assistant, and she begins buckling under his unreasonable and impossible demands.

The story is set in contemporary Russia, and state intelligence officer Dominika Egorova (Lawrence) struggles to survive in the cast-iron bureaucracy of post-Soviet intelligence. Drafted against her will to become a "Sparrow," a trained seductress in the service, Dominika is assigned to operate against Nathaniel Nash, a first-tour CIA officer who handles the agency's most sensitive penetration of Russian intelligence. The two young intelligence officers collide in a charged atmosphere of trade craft, deception, and inevitably, a sexual attraction that threatens their careers and the security of America's valuable mole in Moscow. Dominika winds up seeking revenge against her soulless masters, and living a fatal double life after she is recruited by the CIA to ferret out a high-level traitor in Washington. She also hunts down a Russian illegal buried deep in the U.S. military and, against all odds, to return to Moscow as the new-generation penetration of Vladimir Putin's intelligence service. Follows three young women, who form a girl group with hopes of making it big in the music industry, and the choices with which they’re faced along the way. Latifah anchors the cast as Carlotta, the owner of an Atlanta beauty salon, with an amazing voice, who will become a surrogate mother to the three girls – even though she doesn’t approve of their musical dreams. Demorest, has landed the role of Star, the tough 18-year-old who spent her childhood in and out of foster homes after the death of her mother, and who will do anything to become the star she was named to be. Destiny, has been cast as Alexandra, the wealthy 20-year-old who grew up on New York’s Upper East Side, but who, for years, has tried to put her privileged world behind her, so she can make real, authentic music. O’Grady, will play Simone, Star’s younger sister who dreams of the day Star will return to rescue her from the abusive foster home in which she was placed five years before. Together, the three will chase their dreams of making it big in the glamorous but cut-throat Atlanta music scene.

A powerful coming-of-age story, the film is about a teen who must deal with the ramifications of a sex video that goes viral. When a sex video of 13-year-old Deanna Lambert and Tommy, her older brother’s best friend, hits the Internet, her life of carefree innocence is changed forever. Three years later, Deanna is still dealing with the fallout of the video, including being branded the school slut and bearing the burden of the daily taunts from her classmates. Her home life is even more troublesome as her father’s anger and disappointment over the incident has left him unable to look her in the eye. Ready to move on, Deanna longs to escape a life defined by the mistakes of her past. (September 7 - October 28)

On July 1, 1959, at Ypsilanti State Hospital in Michigan, the social psychologist Milton Rokeach (Gere) brought together three paranoid schizophrenics: Clyde Benson (Whitford), an elderly farmer and alcoholic; Joseph Cassel (Dinklage) a failed writer who was institutionalized after increasingly violent behavior toward his family; and Leon Gabor (Goggins), a college dropout and veteran of World War II. The men had one thing in common: each believed himself to be Jesus Christ. Their extraordinary meeting and the two years they spent in one another's company serves as the basis for an investigation into the nature of human identity, belief, and delusion that is poignant, amusing, and at times disturbing. Displaying the sympathy and subtlety of a gifted novelist, Rokeach draws us into the lives of three troubled and profoundly different men who find themselves "confronted with the ultimate contradiction conceivable for human beings: more than one person claiming the same identity." Margulies will play Rokeach's wife and former research assistant and secretary. While supportive of her husband, she's cooped up with two young daughters and resentful of his long hours and of his young attractive female assistant. She is not above using her charms — and the occasional provocative sexual encounter — to be sure she continues to keep his attention. (July 21 - August 22 / Danny DeVito and Jeremy Irons mentioned for role.)

The project is a spoof of crime documentaries like The Jinx and Making a Murderer. It follows Josh Simon, a young big-city lawyer and his oddball defense team during a high profile murder trial in a small southern town. Boyer will play Dwayne, Simon's loyal lead investigator. Not the sharpest tool in the shed, Dwayne's dream is to take a bullet for Josh — hopefully not from his own gun. Lithgow will play the suspect, Larry Henderson, a smart but slightly clueless poetry professor at a South Carolina community college who is accused of murdering his wife. Henderson finds the whole notion of being charged with murder absurd...but he's got a couple of secrets that could really derail his defense. Shepherd will play Anne Flatch, the well-meaning and enthusiastic assistant/receptionist at Josh Simon's makeshift law office in East Peck, South Carolina, Anne suffers from facial blindness — the inability to recognize people by their faces — along with a host of disorders that makes her job as one of the members of the defense team much more difficult.

Villa Capri is a comedic take on an upscale resort community for the 'Over 50' crowd. Duke's (Freeman) position as king of the hill at the Villa Capri retirement community is seriously threatened when Leo (Jones) shows up on the scene. The two alpha males battle it out on and off the golf course for the number one position as top dog in the eyes of the ladies. However, they soon realize that they have more in common than not. When Duke reveals he's in a witness protection program because of his former association with the mob, Leo steps up to help him avoid getting knocked off by a hitman. A big-screen adaptation of British TV series that kicked off when three armed robbers are killed during a heist. They are survived by their widows, who use a cache of books detailing the men's past robberies to pull off a raid themselves. The film will diverge from the series in that it will be contemporary set in U.S. city and feature four widows.

Young Will Shakespeare (Davidson) arrives in London, fresh from the country and full of dreams to make his mark as a playwright. Attracted to Will's naïve genius is Alice Burbage (DeJonge), the talented, beautiful and rebellious daughter of James Burbage (Meaney), the carpenter with a vision to build the first theater in London since Roman times. Despite being the daughter of an impresario, Alice is forbidden by society from pursuing a career in the theater. Her brother Richard Burbage (Inwood), is innately talented, but too much in love with himself and prone to overact. A chance encounter at the theater leads him to team up with Will in what would soon become the greatest actor-writer partnership the world has ever seen. Rounding out Will's cast of characters are playwright, poet and chief Shakespeare rival Christopher Marlowe (Bower) and wealthy and notorious law enforcer Richard Topcliffe (Bremner).

After his director has an unfortunate medical crisis, with recurring mediocre reviews, Jack is forced to push forward as the Creative director of the Asteria Theatre. His only option to bring potential new life to the theatre is to hire the only guy he trusts to do the play justice (Dan Connors) and ask the actors ex (Chloe Ryan) to direct! If this isn't already a large enough ticking time bomb, he hires a young, inexperienced teen idol (with a following and ego to boot) in order to appease the board and raise the theatre's profile. With a bunch of motley characters, it could be the best show ever... or a complete disaster.

A dramatic insider account of the world of private military contracting. Armored cars, burner phones, top-notch weaponry and top-secret missions--this is the life of today's private military contractor. Like author Simon Chase, many PMCs were once the world's top military operatives, and since retiring from outfits like US Navy SEAL TEAM Six and the UK's Special Boat Service, they have devoted their lives to executing sensitive and hazardous missions overseas. Working at the request of U.S. and British government entities as well as for private clients, he takes on jobs that require "zero footprint," with no trace of their actions left behind. Chase delivers first-hand accounts of tracking Bin Laden in Afghanistan and being one of the first responders after the attack on the U.S. Consulate in Benghazi. We see his teams defuse terrorist bombs, guard dignitaries, and protect convoys traveling through perilous territory--and then there are the really big jobs: top-secret "zero footprint" missions that include searching for High Value Targets and setting up arms shipping networks.
